Join us for BLOOM! and the Awards of Success

BLOOM! CCDI's signature spring gala, and gives us the unique opportunity to celebrate and recognize the accomplishments of Canada's diversity and inclusion professionals – those who are committed to diversity and inclusion across this country. In 2018, we are thrilled to present BLOOM! in Toronto on April 26, 2018, and in Calgary for the first time on May 24, 2018!

CCDI's Awards of Success have been designed to recognize individuals who have made a significant contribution to diversity and inclusion here in Canada – whether internally to their organization or externally to the community at large. We encourage you to nominate someone who deserves to be recognized as a leader in diversity and inclusion. Two winners per category will be selected - one for Eastern Canada (ON, QC, NB, PE, NS, NL) and one for Western Canada (MB, SK, AB, BC, YT, NT, NU). Read more...

Beyond Citations: From academia to the workplace

Diversity and inclusion practitioners and academics who conduct research on issues of diversity often share a common goal: to make meaningful social impacts and to effect change within their communities.

However, on-the-ground practitioners are often strapped for time to reflect on and engage in theoretical conversations surrounding the themes of diversity and inclusion. They also sometimes lack resources to draw on for empirical evidence. At the same time, researchers and academics face obstacles when trying to broaden the reach of their fieldwork and thus struggle to make their work useful for others.

To address this gap, CCDI has launched Beyond Citations, to help graduate students mobilize their work in meaningful way and help diversity practitioners access the latest research in the field. Read more...
